Take Advantage of Multiple Screens

With the rapid rise of tablets and the continued wide spread adoption of smartphones, Datavo understands the need to provide a more unified, business solution.

myDatavo Mobile from Datavo allows businesses to meet communications and mobile challenges head on. MyDatavo is a 4th Generation, unified communications solution that not only delivers a richer telecom experience but also allows you to easily move calls between wireless and land-line networks all while the call is in process.

myDatavo Mobile also allows you to include video calling with your high definition voice call regardless of where and how the call was received or initiated.

Easy To Use Interface

With wideband HD voice quality, myDatavo Mobile allows you to interact with your basic calling services while also extending advanced multimedia offerings like real-time high definition video calls and conferencing. Once partnered with myDatavo Assistant and myDatavo Web Portal, myDatavo Mobile enables a presence that can integrate your business contacts from Outlook and LDAP/Active Directory or social contacts like Facebook.

This is an application that is in front of you on a daily basis and serves and as extension of your corporate image. Available on Apple iOS platforms and Android mobile devices, myDatavo Mobile is available whenever you need to do business.

Pairing Across Devices

Everyone from the CEO right up to the busy office manager continues to demand a fixed office line and they are more mobile than ever, insisting on constant connectivity and universal reachability - whether they are at their desk, at home or on the go.

With myDatavo Mobile, your business telephone is no longer associated with a particular physical location or device. Telephone calls are now an application. More than Sim-Ring or Find Me Follow Me, any device running myDatavo with the same telephone number will assume the calling features, dial plans and outgoing caller ID of their paired counterpart.

Fluid Call Control: The Push / Pull

myDatavo Mobile provides a level of granular call control that is unmatched by other telecom carrier services in the market today.

With each individual endpoint - PC, tablet or mobile phone, a myDatavo call can be gracefully pushed or pulled between devices at your request. Naturally, individual capabilities and call status are displayed at the time of the incoming call, which can determine if a call can be moved or handled in some other way as desired.
